1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-3, drawn to a method of conducting service on a wind turbine.

Group II, claim(s) 4-23, drawn to equipment for servicing a wind turbine.

Group III, claim(s) 24-25, drawn to a wind turbine.

Group IV, claim 26, drawn to a method of using holes in a surface of a hub in a wind turbine.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

- Groups I, II, and III have a common technical feature. The common technical feature in the groups call for a hub for a wind turbine mounted on a wind turbine, and a crane connected to the hub, the crane used for lowering and hoisting wind turbine appliances to and from the hub. However, this technical feature does not provide contribution to the art as it is known in the art, as taught by Hehenberger (PCT WO 96/10130 hereinafter referred to as HEHENBERGER). In Figure 1, HEHENBERGER teaches a hub (item 2) which is mounted on a "wind powered device" (wind turbine). In Figure 2, HEHENBERGER teaches a crane structure comprising a deflection roller (item 27) is mounted to a rotor hub (item 19) so that a traction cable (item 37) can lift a piece of the wind turbine (item 18) by power supplied by the generator (item 23). Therefore, Groups I, II, and III have lack of unity a posteriori since applicant's above teaching is not applicant's contribution over the prior art.

- Group IV has lack of unity with Groups I, II, and III a priori as there is no special technical feature common between the independent claim in Group IV and the independent claims in Groups I-III. The special technical feature in Group IV calls for a method of using pre-existing holes in a wind turbine hub for securing service equipment to the surface of the hub.. Groups I, II, and III do not call for the special technical feature of using pre-existing holes in a surface of a hub of a wind turbine.

3. A telephone call was made to Attorney Erik Müller to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement on September 9, 2009. No election was made because the given phone number, +453-068-1573, could not be connected.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

4. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims.

Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to JACOB J. CIGNA whose telephone number is (571)
